ATTACK PORT ARTHUR

Lasting Over Four Days.

Alleged Occupation of the Town-Sharp Encounter at Chiong Syong in Which the Russians Lost Six Hundred Killed and Wounded-Firing Heard South of Yinkow-Collisions Beyond Tatung Pass.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

TOKIO, March 21.-[Exclusive Dispatch.] A Tokio paper pub lishes the report today that a Japanese division landed in the Liao Tung peninsula March 15 and engaged the Russian troops in the rear of Port Arthur. Simultaneously, the fleet bombarded the town and harbor. The action began at 6 o'clock in the evening of the 15th inst. and continued until 10 o'clock in the morning of the 20th. Sixteen ships engaged in the attack. The result is reported to have been the occupation of Port Arthur by the Japanese. The report remains unconfirmed, but a fresh assault on Port Arthur has been expected for some days.

A sharp encounter is reported to have occurred at Chion Syong, in which the Russians lost 600 killed and wounded. Military attaches and correspondents here are deeply dissatisfied at the long delay in getting permission to proceed to the front.

> FIRING SOUTH OF YINKOW. [BY THE ASSOCIA TED PRESS-P.M.]

YINKOW, March 22. - Firing was heard off the coast, apparently about six miles to the southward, fourteen shots having been heard between 7 and 7:30 o'clock this morning. The morning was hazy, and it was impossible to distinguish objects at sea. A creditable report has reached here that two cruisers and five gunboats were off Kinchow.

"In conclusion, I will venture upon one prophecy, namely, that the result of this war will be for Russia a blessing in disguise. The policy of expansion everywhere, at any cost and any method, whether of arms or diplomacy together with its upholders will be discredited. The canker at the heart of Russia—the corruption of her bureaucracy—will-be cut out. "Already, the fames of hostility to England are visible almost everywhere in Europe—a manifestation which is not at all surprising, in view of the language of so much of the London press. came known that the facts had become public property, a warrant was imme-diately issued for his arrest, and beore sunrise he will be in custody.

This action was deferred not because of any feeling for Hays, but only to protect the bank. The warrant was issued at the direct request of the members of the board of directors, a majority of whom held meeting tonight for the purpose of ing the matter. eeting it was explained to them that the whole story was known in Los Angeles, and that it was desired to fully protect the credit of the bank. The directors realized at once that they must act quickly and accordingly a committee went to the residence of a justice of the peace and secured the a justice of the peace and secured the warrant which was at once placed in the hands of Sheriff Coburn and his deputies. Meantime, there had been a consultation of the directors, and the following official statement was issued late tonight;

At a mass meeting of students this afternoon, President Ellot was presented an engrossed address signed by nearly ten thousand Harvard men. At the same time, he was informed that warrant which was at once placed in the hands of Sheriff Coburn and his deputies. Meantime, there had been a sued late tonight;

OFFICIAL STATEMENT. "About the time of the resignation of Mr. Hays as cashler there appeared to be a shortage of $5000, which sum had been paid to Mr. Hays, but had not been turned over to the bank. was called to Mr. Hays's atten tion. He secured this sum and paid age of $1900 was discovered and rged to Mr. Hays, who paid the sum back to the bank. Subsequently, further shortages, aggregating $18,000 were discovered, Mr. Hays was asked to pay this sum back to the bank, but was unable to do so, but instead he gave security in the form of a trust to A. A. Adair as trustee. Before this, however, he had already given a trust deed to E. B. Howe as trustee to secure possible shortages.

"Upon further investigation by the national bank examiner, a further abortage was discovered by him. Upon the latter's advice the directors made this good to the bank and to the en-tire satisfaction of the national bank examiner.

The examiner, who has been scrutin-izing every account in the bank under the orders of the Controller of the Currency at Washington, was not long in discovering crookedness in the bank ledger, in which fictitious accounts had been entered in order to apparently cover up stealings. Persons had been carred with lease of 72 years. The firm of which he was founder was started in 1852. sons had been charged with loans who never made them and other customers who had paid notes had not been credited with the payments. The sum total of the stealings and irregularities, so far as ascertained, is $106,000. Hays is accused of embezzling the money and of falsifying the books, but the question is, can the bank prove that Tom Hays 414 the credit of the several weeks. He leaves a widow and one son, Joseph D. Grant. who had paid notes had not been credited with the payments. The sum the question is, can the bank prove that Tom Hays did the crooked work?

Kern county and in order to protect certain options to valuable oil lands he and his associates deposited $16,000 in escrow in a Bakersfield bank.

Later, Hays needed money and he simply transferred the account on the books of the Orange Growers' National Bank.

"Now if the money is still on deposit in Bakersfield the Riverside bank may get it, but the men who went in with Hays and who put up much of the money stand to lose all that they pat in, ide if saybody gets the money it will be the Orange Growers' Bank to whom Hays has transferred the claim and to whom he has also executed a trust deed.

This trust deed covers in part the property which he deeded to the Salt Lake Railway Company when it was discovered that he had been stealing from that corporation, while acting as its agent here in Riverside. It is ex-plained that in addition to this prop-arty there is not only other collateral for the Salt Lake, but the land deeded to the Salt Lake company is worth more than the consideration named and the Orange Growers' Bank there fore retains an equity in the balance. The discovery of the big shortage is not a surprise to Hays. He knew it was coming and knew that he could not protect himself. HAYS IN LOS ANGELES.

Hays was in Los Angeles yesterday fternoon and was closely shadowed He was seen to send a telegram under an assumed name. Later he returned to Riverside. He apparently knew what was going on, but did not sup-pose the blow was to fall so soon. Some of the officers of the bank feared that he would take flight.

President Candamo has visited the American cruiser New York, says a New York Herald dispatch from Lims, Peru. He was accompanied by United States Minister Dudley, members of the Cabinet, Secretary Nelli and several well-known Americans, Englishmen and Peruvians.

ANOTHER REVERSE.

Government Meets Slight Religious Education Bill.

PARIS, March 21.—[By Atlantic Ca-ble.] In the Chamber of Deputies to-day, the government again met with when Hays is charged with the felony, when Hays is charged with the felony, that credit is in nowise injured. There has been no effort to protect Hays as against the depositors or other creditors of the bank, no condonement of his misdeeds, but every move made by the board of directors has been under the advice of the national bank examiner for the protection of the bank.

WARRANT ISSUED.

Instead of trying to save Hays, the directors immediately upon the discovery of his shortage caused a complaint to be prepared, charging him with felony embezziement. That the complaint was not served was due only to the desire to still further protect the bank, but late tonight, when it became known that the facts had become public property, a warrant was immemblike property, a warrant was immemblike property, a warrant was immemblike property, a warrant was immembled to provide teaching staffs for schools abroad, either in the French interests, especially in Madagascar, and pointed out fluence of British. M. Doumergue, Minister of the Colonies, insisted that French interests would be best promoted by the extension of purely lay schools.

Before a vote was taken on M. Leygues's amendment, there was a clamorous demand for a statement of the position of the government regarding the position, but Fremier Combes refused to reply, whereupon the amendment was carried by a vote of 283 to 272.

OREGON EXPRESS IN WRECK.

TWO WORKMEN INJURED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.] REDDING, March 21.—The Oregon Express, which should have stayed at Hasson, ran on south from there last hight and collided with a wrecked night and collided with a wrecked freight train at Cantara, a small station between Sisson and Dunsmuir, seriously injuring two men of the wrecking crew, one of whom may die. Southbound freight train No. 221, had a car deralled. The express received orders for one of its two locomotives to run down to the scene of the trouble and assist a wrecker, and for the remainder of the train to wait further orders. It wasted a short while and then pulled south and at Cantara ran into the wreck. Two men of the Dunsmuir wrecker crew were working under the derailed car. One, Jack Gunski, had one leg cut off and the other broken and was otherwise injured. He may die. George Hukson had his jaw broken and received minor bruises. The passenger train was not injured by the collision.

FORETOLD HER DEATH.

TACOMA (Wash.) March 21.—Mrs. Anna C. Paul, aged 80, mother of Mayor Paul of Ocosta, died in this city Saturday after foretelling her own death and carefully dressing herself in death and carefully dressing herself in black, made expressly for burial purposes. Several days previously Mrs. Paul told her husband and two sons that on Saturday she would pass away. They smiled incredulously and told her she was surely mistaken. Her health had been very good, though gradually she had been growing weaker.

gradually she had been growing weaker.

Saturday morning she arose at an early hour and told her family that it would certainly be her last day in this vale of tears. After breakfasting she returned to her room and dressed in a neat black robe, which she had made during the week, and in which she desired to be buried. She quietiv kissed the members of the family goodbye and lay down to sleep, folding her arms. She apparently slept for an hour, when her sons approached the bedside to awaken her. They were surprised to find that she had peacefully passed away. The funeral was held at Ocosta today.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.) VANCOUVER, March 21.—Full de-VANCOUVER, March 21.—Full details of the government's decision to permit the establishment of fish traps in Canadian waters indicate a governmental policy of endeavoring to confine the salmon industry as far as possible to Canada. No traps will be permitted near the mouth of the Fraser River, but they may be maintained on the arms of the sea adjacent to American waters.

In explanation, the Dominion Minister of —arine and Fisheries at Ottawa said the government realized that as the Fraser River salmon are being trapped by Americans on Puget Sound before they reach Fraser River from the sea, there was no reason why Canadian canners should not be permitted to take the fish before they reach American traps.

Among the wreckage picked up were two bundles of papers with the ad-iress of Douglass Malcoim, chief of-deer of the British ship Lamoreau. other weekage found was some lum-ber painted white, a photograph wrapped in papers, three empty cop-per tins painted white and other things. REDDING, March 21.—A locomotive and six cars of an extra south-bound freight train jumped the track near Ager. Sisklyou county, this afternoon and piled up in the ditch. None of the train crew was injured.

Trial of Thomas Gostlin. AUBURN, March 21.—The trial of Thomas Gostlin for the killing of E. M. Armstrong, January 9, last, began in the Superior Court today, before Judge Preyett. From the questions asked prospective jurors, it would appear that the plea of the defense will be temporary insanity, superinduced by mining illigation and family troubles.

Thought Killed by Train. REDWOOD CITY, March 21.—John O'Day, aged 57 years, was found dead beside, the retirond track near here today. His body was badly mangled. It is supposed he was the victim of an accident. Frank Olson, a baker, employed by E. Buchman of San Mateo, was caught by the Delmonte express today, while he was crossing the track at Beresford and instantly killed. His wagon was wrecked, but the horse escaped injury.

The Merion has proceeded for Liverpool. She sailed from Philadelphia, March 9. The Clan Grant was last reported as having arrived in the Clyde March 6 from Antwerp.

The collision occurred off Tuscar on the Irish coast, at 10:30 yesterday morning. The Merion stood by the Clan Grant and accompanied her to safety, and then proceeded for her destination. The Merion subsequently arrived in the Mersey and her passengers were landed by means of a tender. It appears that the Merion was not damaged. There was no excitement among her passengers at the time of the collision.

the Department of Commerce and Labor, it has been necessary for Secretary Hay to call upon Secretary Cortelyou to assist in the formation of the new treaty. Secretary Cortelyou will deal with those sections of the treaty which practically prescribe the regulation of Chinese of the higher class and the exclusion of cooles. Secretary Hay will take care of the diplomatic sections of the treaty.

While much reticence is observed at present as to the lines upon which the new convention is being formed, there is reason to believe that it would be more liberal in treatment of Chinese who desire to enter the United States, when they are not actually of the coolic class, than the existing treaty. There also may be made provisions for the Panama Canalistrip, though this is not certain. An attempt also has been made to avail of this opportunity to make more extensive use of Chinese labor in the Philippines.

on the public formain is the purpose of a bill introduced in the Senate today by request of Senator Hoar. It is known as the Booth-Tucker Bill, and is the colonization scheme of the Salvation Army. In the preamble the bill urges the necessity of relieving the congestion in the larger cities, and suggests the use of the lands under irrigation by the operation of the reclamation set of June 17, 1903, in colonizing a large number of families.

Provision is made for a colonization fund by having the Secretary of the Treasury issue 3½ per cent. gold bonds, payable not exceeding fifty years from the date of issue, to the extent of not less than $50,000 and not more than $5,000,000 in any one year. The Colonization Bureau is empowered to make loans not exceeding $1500 to any person duly qualified to enter land under the homstead laws. Proper provision is made for the security of the lands and restrictions for the judicious expenditure of the loans received from the government.

details of the charges which will form the ground of impeachment the committee agreed to withhold until the report on the case has been completed for presentation to the House. This report is to be drawn by Representative Palmer of Pennsylvanis, chairman of the sub-committee which took the testimony in the case. Of this sub-committee, Messra Palmer and Clayton of Alabama reported to the full committee in favor of impeachment, while Representative Gillette of California reported against it.

Mr. Palmer's report will be presented this week. If the House votes to impeach Judge Swayne, two of its members will be appointed formally to notify the Senate, before which body, sitting in a judicial capacity, the case must be tried. The case against Judge Swayne would be conducted by six managers, who would be members of the House, elected by that body by tailot for the work. Judge Swayne, after the case has been presented to the Senate by these managers, will be given an opportunity to present his side of the case.

While the committee has declined to give out details at present, it is understood that the charges on which testimony was taken include those of being absent from his circuit, being a non-resident of his district, imprisoning a lawyer in contempt proceedings, imprisoning the son of a littigant, also for contempt, of court, and refusing to hear a certain witness in a case before him, alleging that he would not believe the witness under oath.

Secretary Taft said that he had never involigated the situation in the islands to learn whether the reported scarcity of vessels was colored, because he was satisfied in regard to the situation. He had avoided purposely becoming possessed of information which might become embarrassing. There are enough vessels in the trade now to take care of a normal increase in the commerce of the islands. He thought the building of ships might keep pace with the increase of trade, but regretted that Congress had rejected the request of the Philippine Commission that Chinamen skilled in shipbuilding be permitted to come into the islands for a period of five years.

COMMONS DEBATE CHINESE LABOR IN TRANSVAAL.

Liberal Leader Moves His Vote of Censure of Government, Which is Signal for Clash of Pres and Cons

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.)

IBY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.1
LONDON, March 21.—(By Atlantic Cable.) In the House of Commons to-day, the Liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, moved his vote of censure, presented March 16, to the effect that "this house disapprove the conduct of His Majesty's government in advising the crown to disallow the ordinance for the introduction of Chinese labor into the Transvaal."
Sir Henry said that nothing the government had done since the close of the South African War had so sorely tried the people of this country as its sanction of the introduction of Chinese labor into South Africa. If the new departure was not checked it would be a source of future weakness, not only to the Transvaal, but to the whole of South Africa, had it was impossible to conceive a greater departure from the principles by which Great Britain had pinned without a serious disturbance of the London money market. He declared that the numerous large issues of stocks, both government and municipal, of recent years, has disturbed the London money market, with the result that the price of all government and municipal stocks had failen thereby. The issue of a further large amount of stock to raise the necessary cash for the dock purchase must further depreciate securities. Lord Rothschild therefore urged that the compensation be paid in guaranteed port stock instead of cash.

The president of the Board of Trade said the views of the bankers coincided with his own, and that everything possible would be done to avoid an unnecessary disturbance of the money market.

Mr. E. M. Burt, the New York artist, has consented to remain with us a few more days, and he may be seen in one of our show windows this morning giving exhibitions of his phenomenal skill with the brush. Last week it was impossible for Mr. Burt to keep up with the demand, but he has been working night and day and we now have a sufficient quantity of pictures to supply the demand. This morning from 8 until 10 o'clock we will give with every $1.00 purchase a coupon; five coupons entitle the holder to a small painting, and ten coupons secure a large picture. No coupons will be given after 10 o'clock. If you want picture coupons, do your trading before 10 a.m.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Members of the cotton and brokerage firm of D. J. Sully & Co., which made an assignment Saturday, were in conference today with Cutcheon, counsel for the firm. George E. Graham, counsel for Joseph H. Hoadley, the assignee, was at the Sully office. The hope of resumption of business rests with the creditors, among whem there is said to be a desipe to help Sully to his feet. This will be accomplished, it is thought, by the appointment of David Miller as assignee.

EQUAL RIGHTS FOR ALL-A BAS

The principle of "equal rights for special privileges for none, which trades unions have illogically sought to make their own espe-cial shibboleth, has been reaf-firmed (though not in a manner exactly to the liking of the totemite perverters of that sound democratic doctrine,) at Grand Rapids, Mich. The case is interesting, as in many of its aspects it is similar to

For some years past, the City Coun cil of Grand Rapids has been under the domination of trades-union greed to a most disgraceful extent. This fact of course has nothing to do with the great water scandal in that city which has resulted in sending some of the city officials to the peniten tiary; that is quite another story. But for years it has been the custom of the Grand Rapids Council, in letting contracts for public work of various kinds, to insert in the contracts provisions to the effect that the worl required should be performed only by nion labor. It has been specified that all printing used and ordered by the city must bear the union label. Resolutions have been adopted by city parks; that only union bricklayers should be employed in public labor performed by the city, etc., This manifest abuse of authority and perversion of justice very naturally, in course of time, brought about class of persons discriminated against in so flagrant a manner. Mark, too, that Maj. Naylor and a file These protests at length took the Rapids, and many others, asking that all rules, resolutions and ordible conduct in the circulation of those nances discriminating between union and non-union labor in the awarding of city contracts be re-This petition brought the question squarely before the Council, in such a manner that the issue could not well be evaded. The Council referred the petition to a special committee, consisting of the Committee on Ordinances and the City Attorney. After due consideration, that committee reported in ef-fect that the Council had no legal right, in the letting of city contracts, to prohibit the employment of nonunion or of union men, nor in any is as old as our institutions," said the report, "that all men are equal before the law, and that discrimination in favor of or against certain members of any class of our citizens is not legal. The decisions of the Supreme Court of this State," continued the report, "several times pronounced by such court, appear to be final and conclusive against such legislation, either by the Legislature or the Common Council of this city. The Legislature itself is held to be powerless to enact such laws, and the Common Council is still more limited, as the Legislature can effact any law not prohibited by State or Federal Constitution, while the city can only pass ordinances authorized by the State Legislature, and also not in conflict with the Constitution." This is, of course, sound common sense as well as good law. The justice of the proposition that "under the law of the land all men must be treated alike" is so obvious that it cannot be successfully assailed by any interest or from any point of view. That this simple and self-apparent principle of abstract justice should be ignored in any American community is a matter for astonishment and wonder.

It is not probable that there will be ends—every American citizen whose any attempt to set aside the dictum heart beats true to the American of the conclusion arrived at. as above spirit will condemn unionism and its lawlessness and join in the great paAttorney, Hor. may at times be polluted by the smoke from non-union cigars.

The victory won for right and justice in this cause may be won in all similar cases, if those who are op-posed to union dictation and injustice will have the good sense to stand together and contend for their rights under the law as American citizens. The Times has always contended that in this matter? Is it not apparent to all discriminations in favor of the union label or union workmen, in public work of any kind, was illegal. Democracy is greatly in need of This position has invariably been sustained by the courts whenever the is-sue has been fairly presented, and in the nature of the case it must be so sustained. A private citizen who employs others may discriminate for or against union men, if he so desires. But public employment is a far dif-ferent proposition. All citizens are the opportunities of government. It is clearly evident that when the gov-ernment, either local or general, discriminates as between one citizen and another, or between one class of citizens and another class, it abrogates its proper functions to the extent of such discrimination. "Under the law of the land, all men must be treated alike."

LOGICAL SUGGESTION.

A Clark Howell of Atlanta, Ga. Committee, is out in an interview in which he declares that "the political embargo on Southern Presidentia candidates must end after the presen election," and he suggests that Ser ator Bailey of Texas should be made the candidate of the Democratic party for President in 1908.

To the most casual observer it must be apparent that in fixing upon the year 1908 as the time for the incarnation of the Southern Remocratic candidate for President, Mr. Howell is looking an unnecessarily long way into the future. Why not 1904, in-stead of 1908? Why put off for four years what might be done in this present year of our Lord? Delays are dangerous. are dangerous. There is no telling what may happen in four years.

The suggestion of Mr. Howell is logical—eminently to. As nearly all the Democratic electoral votes come from the South, why should not th South furnish the candidate. Is it not, indeed, the logical right of the South, not merely to dictate the non ination, but to furnish the candidat to be voted for? What Democrat what Republican, North or South, can answer this question in the negative and defend his answer? Can any valid reason be brought forward for expecting the faithful Southern delegates in the National Democratic conventions to go on whooping it up quadrennially for some Northern man for the office of Chief Executive, when there is such a superabun-dance of good Presidential tim-ber south of Mason and Dixon's line, where most of the Democratic votes are? The thought, now that Mr. How ell has called attention to the ject, is certainly repugnant, and it is clear that something ought to be done to remedy a state of affairs that is fast becoming intolerable. It is a fair presumption, of course, that in mentioning Senator Bailey of Mr. Howell spoke somewhat at ran-dom and indefinitely, so to speak; for it is not to be supposed that he would care to maintain that Senator Bailey is the only man in the Bouth upon Port Arthur dispatches tell us that fifty soldiers of the garrison have been of the "open shop" will prevail. There will be no discrimination as tempted desettion. Evidently the bomb party introduced by the Japs is not an unqualifiedly popular social function at the atmosphere of the public parks sidered in this connection. And there are others without limit-Messrs. Tillman, Daniel, Gorman, Morgan Carmack, Bacon, Money, McLaurin Pettus, and others in the Senate, to say nothing of numerous statesmen in the House of Representatives who are, as it were, ripe for the honor.

1908 to do tardy justice to the South Democracy is greatly in need of a candidate; not that there is any dearth of material, but rather tha tainty as to just where and upon whom the honor should fall. Why not set all doubt at rest, once and forever, by giving the nomination to the South in this year of grace, 1904? The South has the Democratic electoral votes, and it seems almost an axiom that where the votes are to be found also. So far as we can perceive, there would at least be no harm in trying the experiment.

Among other things that are changed is the lot of the commercial traveler, or "drummer," as we call him in this country. In former days, he was exnected to be a sort of "hale reliow well met." ready to join in any kind of a spree, for the sake of catching business, but the wave of reform has overtaken his trade, also. It is announced that two leading railroad corporations have determined to no longer allow expense accounts for wine feasts among travelling, district and general agents.

It appears to be merely necessary to announce a Kentucky wedding to have the bride referred to in the dispatches as Kentucky's most beautiful woman. But any one who has seen the bluerass girl on her native heath will readily understand the difficulty of finally determining the question.

was "The Heart of Maryland." The "Hills" are people, as "Maryland" was a person.

The play is otherwise obscure in spots, but, as constructed, it is destined to please the average audience to a much greater degree than many plays of subtler quality.

While it bears a striking resemblance to the "Way Down East" type, it still is radically different. For instance, the betrayed girl is not driven out into the metaphosical teeth of a snowstorm, but is sheltered by her kind and forgiving parents just as if the cruel thing had not occurred. Again, in other pastoral plays the barnyard fowls sit stupidly still in a single place, while in the "Hills" the roosters crow and there is a duck which beats time with its tail while the quartette is working off the vocal end of the programme.

Frank Bacon, who takes the leading role, is a most pleasing and conscientious actor in his line, and gives a correct portrayal of the "old farmer" type. In the same paragraph with Bacon must be mentioned Robert Lawler, who enacts "Fat," the office boy—a good natured, sleepy, delightfully stupid youth whose acquaintance is a lasting pleasure. Lawler's work speaks well for future endeavor in character comedy—he is marked for a good position. Clifford Dempsey, so long "leading heavy" with the Neills, was welcomed back as an old favorite. Miss Beasie Stuari Bacon and other ladies do acceptable work.

ORPHBUM. There are three new acts worth seeing at the Orpheum this week—the Lows-Hughes due in xylophone music, the Barrows-Lancaster company in their dainty little playlet, and the Swedish Ladles' Quintette. Any of these is worth the name of high-class vaudeville.

The man of the Lowe-Hughes pair is probably the best xylophone artist who has ever appeared on the Orpheum stage. "Artist" is here used advisedly, for he takes the tiny hammers and wood or metal blocks up into the realms of magic, and transforms them into a whole orchestra. The xylophone is not always a pleasant instrument, with its metallic clangor, but after you have heard this individual produce the "Lucla" sextette or the overture to "William Tell." you must admit that it has possibilities. "When Georgina Was Eighteen" is the alluring title of the Barrows-Lancaster scene. There are four people in the aggregation, and their act tells the story of an eloping couple's troubles and discoveries before a justice of the peace. The justice is the story of an eloping couple's troubles and discoveries before a justice of the peace. The justice is finally found to be the girl's father, and everything seems about to come to the expected beautiful ending, when suddenly the curtain falls without explanation, and you are left wondering whether the playwright was suddenly stricken with heart failure just there, or a string broke up in the files of the stage.

She Swedish Ladles' Quintette have excellent voices, pretty national costumes and dances, and an appropriately quaint scene set. The contraltor are especially strong and meledious, and the sopranc can reach high notes without squeaking or screeching—she sings almost a la Edith Mason, in miniature.

Perguson and Mack do a cheap and vulgar act that takes the gallery with its low comedy. They got most of their alleged humor from a reputed "legitimate" offering in which they appeared here two years ago.

GRAND OPERAHOUSE. Whatever comes to Los Angelea—smallpox or bubonic plague, or the stray shells of a coast-bombarding Russian fleet—let us be thankful that we do not live in "New York Day by Day."

The reign of terror is theillingly depicted at the Grand this week, and one can get all the varied forms of thrills, from kidnaping to robbery and arson. New York is a very dreadful place, according to this melodrama, and the actors and actresses of the company have a streauous time earning drowsiness of late take a day by day step on the streets of this new-fangled

TERRIN'S SLATE WILL NOT DO

PROGRAMME FOR DELEGATES TO CHICAGO CONVENTION.

Two San Francisco Bosses Attempting to Dictate to Republicans of California — Southland Will Press Claims of Ex-Senator Bulla for Place on Delegation.

Word is wafted down from San Prancisco that those two great statesmen. Abe Rueff and W. F. Herrin, have fixed up a slate for delegates-at-large to the Republican National Convention without taking the trouble to consult with anyhody in the southern part of the State to ascertain the wishes of Republican voters generally.

The slate reads: Gov Fardee, ex-Gov. Gage, "Black" Hayes of San José and George Knight.

It will be noted that the great and shining light of the Gage push in Los Angeles, "Jay" W. McKinley, is not "among those present," and that the Los shining light of the Gage push in Los Angeles Examiner shot wide of the mark in its fulmination on the subject. The slate will not do. The Republicans of the Southland will have something to say about it when the time comes. George Knight would be acceptable enough as an eloquent representative (f San Francisco and the north, but the other names do not arouse enthusiasm down here. Los Angeles has not forgotten Gov. Pardee's appointment of Guy Barham to carry out a discralitable bargain made in Sacramento. There are others whom the Republicans of Southern California would prefer to see on the list. As for Mr. Hayes he seems to be seeking too high an honor for so recent an acquisition to the California ranks. Ex-Gev. Gage has been discredited by his own party, and it would be ludicrous to send him to the national convention of a party which has repudiated him.

convention of a party which has repudiated him.

The Republicans of Southern California will claim to be represented by a man of their choice when the time comes to make up the list of delegates, it was their magnificent campaigning and splendid showing at the polls which saved California from the Democracy in the last election, and they will not let this fact be forgotten. It is hard to see how they can be ignored and the friends of ex-Sehator Robert N. Bulla will press his candidacy for delegates at large with well-founded assurance, in spite of all the slate making of such self-constituted leaders as Boss Herrin and Abe Rueff.

$1.50 Gowns $1.15

There are two times for buying things. One is when you need them; the other is when the other party is anxious to sell.

This is both you are always needing good substantial cambric gowns, and just now we are anxious to close out three lines of our $1.25 and $1.50 garments at $1.15.

Cambric gowns with yoke of fine Swisa insertion, Val. lace beading and edging, baby ribbon; lace edge ruffle at wrists; square neck style.

Cambric gowns with yoke of tucks and embroidery in sertion. Embroidery ruffle at neck style. Cambric gowns with yoke of French; bands and Val. insertion, finished with bead and ribbons; trimmed cuffs; high neck style.

$1.25 to $1.75 .

Goods which very nearly every woman needs, at a time when she needs them most, at the lowest prices of the season:

French crepes, fancy etamines and fancy voiles of the sorts sold heretofore at $1.25 to $1.75 are today marked $1 a yard.

42 to 44-inch widths in a wide variety of fancy offects and solid colors. fancy effects and solid colors.

Silk Petticoats $6

But not six-dollar petticoats—judged by the values regularly given hereabouts. These are of excellent black taffets, walking length with deep knife pleated ruffle, edges hem-stitched, and extra dust ruffle stiffened with featherbone—very exceptional value at $6.00. Underskirts of still finer quality taffets, full length, with ripple founce, $7.50.

Misses suits $11 to $20

No reason why misses' ready to wear clothes should not be as stylish, as tasty, as girlish as if made to order. Of course that isn't what you expect. It isn't the usual way. But it's the Coulter way.

In THIS store the girls' department gets the attention it deserves—it's not a neglected side issue.

Misses' tailor suits of brown, gray and green tures; English box coat; belted back; collars and of broadcloth; braid and button trim-mings; pleated skirt.

The Coulter collection of ribbons for Easter wear is an exhibit worth going out of your was select from. As a special inducement for you to see it—this advance Easter offering:

for every meet. In short, the entire management will be conducted on the same plan as used in the large eastern football grounds.

The following is the schedule for the park: October $, 15, 22 and 29, open; November 5, Sherman Indians; November 12, Pomona vs. Occidental; November 24, Pomona vs. Occidental; November 24, Pomona vs. Sherman Indians; December 3, 16 and 17, open; December 26, Sherman Indians; January 3, Pomona College.

Coach, Hempel returned today from Riverside, where he completed final arrangements and plans with the manager of the Sherman Indian team, for all of next year's football happenings.

T OHMAN'S MEN ALREADY HERE.

Doyle and others of the Brooklyn Club were not unmixed pleasures last season.

Jules Streib is back at first base, where he has always done good work for Oakland. Jules wanted a change last year and gof it in Kansas City, but was as glad to get back on the Coast as he was to leave it last spring. His back is not bothering him as much as it did two years ago.

Schlaftey, the new second baseman, is on his first trip to the Coast, and can hardly fail to be an improvement on most of the poor sticks that Lohman played in that position last year, though if he is the equal of Mohler, who held the position two years ago, he will have to be a phenomenal player.

Buck Francks at short and Wild Bill Devereaux have been playing good bail all winter. Most of Lohman's tribe were at San Diego, until reporting time, playing occasional games and keeping their condition fairly well.

Lohman's change catcher and utility man is Boettiger, who has been seen here in Pacific National uniforms during the recent "war." He is a willing player, who probably will give as good satisfaction as Gorton did. Gorton goes to Des Moines this year.

1:01%. Five furlongs on the Ascot track seems to be Golden Rule's distance, as he tires much in going farther. His past performances show him usually cutting out the running that far in the journey.

The victory of Brown Prince in the fifth at 15 to 1 was an upset of the talent's calculations and of local form, though on his record up north he was not out of his class in meeting such horses as Skirmish. Cazador, Inaugurator and Jim Gore II. The last-named would probably have been the winner had he not received enough bumping to sink a ship, being knocked off his feet so effectively that his race is of no account for form figuring purposes. Lawrence, who gave Skirmish an indifferent ride, was responsible for most of the rough work, and it cost him $25. The first event brought together a well-matched field of milers, with Elle, Lunar and Lustig held equal in the betting at 3 to 1. The play was mostly upon the first two, and Elle proved best, Anderson having him in hand all the way.

There has been no time since 1892 when the editor of the Courier-Journal would have accepted a seat in a national convention; certainly no time tince, in 1897, he got down from his horse, took a musket and fell in behind the marching column of Democracy, saying to the boys. "I'll go with you, if you go to hell, and that is just where you are headed," when he has aspired to any other leadership than that of a private in the ranks, who cannot be bough; nor bullied nor muzzled from speaking the truth at all times and under all circumstances as he sees it.—[Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Fairyland of Beauty

Spring Opening a Brilliant Success.

It seems as though the whole city must have visited our opening yesterday—such coming and going—every nook and corner peopled with sightseers who were admiring the work of our artist, and the merchandise which has been gathered from all the world.

Those who could not get here yesterday will be on hand today.

Magnificent Millinery Display.

Never before were so many beautiful creations exhibited in Los Angeles. The department is like a bit of Paris with its wealth of French pattern hats. Each production is worthy of the closest study. It is our purpose to place our millinery department in the front rank and it was the universal opinion of those present that no such display was ever made before in this city.

Imported Gowns and Tailor-made Garmer

Our big suit department is aglow with exclusive and beautiful garments. We have now provided Los Angeles with a better and larger garment department than is to be found in any other Pacific city. A large percentage of those who attended the opening yesterday took advantage of the opportunity to select their suits now while the assortment is at its very height.

HOLLYWOOD TO JOLLIFY B. LACKSTONE CO.

DRY GOODS. Spring and Arranging to Celebrate the Boulevard Opening.

> About Three Hundred Thousand is Cost of Work.

Eighteen-mile System of Improved Highway.

The completion of the Hollywood boulevard is to be formally celebruted in that foothill town. Citizens are preparing to joilify over the fulfillment of the undertaking, which has cost several years of earnest effort on the part of its promoters, and which has involved an expenditure of about $300,000.

Within a few days the last yard of earth vill have been excavated, and the useful mule, the "chuck" wagon and the man behind the scraper will have moved to other jobs.

The builders of this great highway look proudly on the great wide thoroughfare with its monster cuts and massive fills, its easy gradients its simuous grace, its picturesque views and its even asphalt-like surface.

Those are things which the casual observer may also see and appreciate, but the promoters also look back with satisfaction on other labors which are not now apparent. They view in retrospect the many efforts put forth to induce owners of properties along the line to grant needed concessions in order that the improvement might be made. In memory, they retrace the luils which occurred now and then in the interest shown in the undertaking, and the railles of citizens at points along the route held now in the front parlor of some interested resident and at another time perhaps in the "best room" in a barn or schoolhouse.

So now with the completion of another time binding the foothill urban settlement to the parent city those who have labored hard to bring it about are ready to rejoice over the fruit of with high-class trees and shrubbery.

EXCAVATION SPECTACULAR.

The excavating along the route within the city, now being completed by Contractor Charles Stansbury, is spectacular. The operations of the big power shovel attract much attention from passengers on trolley cars passing the place. The depth of the cuts and the height of the fills are also objects of marvel.

The Stansbury contract amounts to $105,000. Under the contract about $75,000 yards of earth have been removed and nearly as much has been put into the fills. The greatest cut has a depth of about forty feet. Work on the job has been going on for about four months. Until a few days ago there were 250 men and 200 teanis employed on the work.

One of the curious developments of the excavation is noted near Olivestation. Imbedded at irregular intervals in the earth are many boulders not far from three feet in diameter and formed of sandstone.

For the construction west of Burbank junction the Los Angeles Pacific Railway Company bore the greatest part of the expense. The work was done mostly through the offices of H. J. Whitley, acting as president of the Los Angeles-Pacific Boulevard and Development Company. That company contributed $1500 for the improvement and Mr. Whitley and other citizens the Harriman system, and J. D. Sproule, head of the freight department in this State, arrived in the city in a private car attached to the regular overland train. This morning Second Vice-President Paul Morton of the Santa Fé is to arrive, and he will be accompanied by W. B. Biddle, freight traffic manager, and C. T. Nicholson, in charge of the passenger traffic of the Santa Fé system.

When Mr. Stubbs was seen last evening he professed entire ignorance regarding any set conference with representatives of the orange growers, and said that until his arrival he was not aware that any discussion of the existing conditions was contemplated. When G. A. Parkyrs, local freight agent, intimated that a committee of the citrus fruit growers desired to confer with him today, Mr. Stubbs acquienced, though from his manner more than his words it was indicated that a reduction in the rate is a rather remote possibility.

SO IGNORANT: Yesterday Abbot Kinney filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission a complaint against the transportation companies. Included in the list of companies, Included in the list of companies, Included in the list of companies, Included in the list of companies are about nincteen railroads, the Armour car lines, Wills Fargo Eapress Company, and there are set forth a series of alleged violations of the act of Congress to Regulate Commerce, February, 1887. These in epitomized form are about as follows: A combination to pool freights and divide earnings that the tariffs are exorbitant and unreasonably high, by at let st 40 percent; competition has been eliminated and trade restrained; that the express business has been handed over to the one company enabling that concern to impose rates out of all proportion to public service; illegal contract; have been entered into with the Pullhan company, whereby the latter is given the exclusive right to operate sleeping cars over the roads and imposes unreasonable charge upon the public.

Abbot Kinney has also issued a call for the purpose of organiding an opposition to the California Fruit Agency.

Roosevelt's Way.

President Roosevelt's characteristic insistence that members of the Panama Canal Commission shall take the field and go down to the canal route to field and go down to the canal route to carry on their work reminds certain Senators of a converstaion, distinct-ively Rooseveltian, which occurred a few days ago at the White House. Some Western Senators were talking with the President about the appointment of timber inspectors in their part of the country.

timber inspectors in their part of the country.

"What I want," said Mr. Roosevelt.

"is men for timber inspectors who will live in the field—men who can ride a horse all day and camp at night on the ground, cooking their own grub, and up and at it again the next morning. I want men who can ride anything that walks on four legs."

"Yea," remarked one of the Senators, catching the spirit of the moment, "and you, want men who, if their horses break down can catch buffalos, or elk, or jackrabbits, or antelope, put a bridle in their mouths and ride them around the country while they continue their work as inspectors."

"Yes, indeed," replied Mr. Roosevelt, seriously, "that is just the sort of men I want. Don't recommend any other sort to me for appointment."

LOCAL LABOR. FAILURE OF

The laughable feature of McCarthy's address was his reference to Gen. Otta and The Times. With his voice pitched to an altissimo key "Pinhead" denounced Gen. all the vile names thinkable and said that when the laborites got together properly they would be able to make it so interesting for Gen. Otis that the general would be pissued to-leave town. "If my mother dared to read The Times," continued McCarthy, "I would refuse to supnort her. If I caught my wife reading The Times I would consider that sufficient ground for divorce."

Further evidence of McCarthy's "success" here is Tound in the proceedings of the Monday-night convention. The object of this gathering, ostensibly at least, was to devise ways and means to combat the Citisens' Alliance. On motion of Ryancis Draka a committee was appointed to promulgate a plan and report at the adjourned session of the convention held Saturday evening. This committee was made up as follows: Alexander Morrison, of the Council of Labor, James A. Gray of the Building Trades' Council, G. O. Brockmiller of the U.B. of R.E.. Z. W. Craig, third vice-president of the State Federation of Labor; J. Evans of the Plasterers' Union No. 2. This committee met Wednesday evening, but its deliberations resulted in no action, the only question receiving attention being the adoption of the federation plan in vogue in San Francisco. Here came the rub. The committee adjourned in disorder.

DRUMMING 'EM .UP.

Still further evidence of disruption and discontent was revealed at this convention of Monday evening. Of the eighty various unions of Los Angeles but fifty-seven sent delegates. To look up the delinquents and urge them to cooperation a committee was appointed. The personnel of this committee was supposed to represent the persuasive strength of unionism in this locality and was authorized to visit the unions of outlying towns and drum up a goodly attendance for the Saturday-evening gathering. The "success" attending their efforts is of peculiar interest in view of "Pinhead's" public boast. At the Monday-night meeting 133 delegates reported. Saturday night but ninety put in an appearance. It was after this meeting that McCarthy, in private, roundly denounced the

SO IGNORANT?

"I am making this trip," said Mr. Stubs, "largely for pleasure and recreation and with just a little business thrown in. My family is at Phoenix, Ariz., and I am taking the chance afforded to look around and see how things are progressing. I have really nothing to say regarding the citrus fruit situation save in the most general of terms, for I don't even know what is to be discussed when we meet with these gentlemen. I will say this, however, that there is no reason why these matters should be carried to my office at all for Mr. Sproule has charge of the traffic here and is perfectly able and willing to discuss and settle all matters regarding the shipment of citrus fruits."

Being reminded that the growers considered that they have some grievances in the matters of a more plentiful supply of cars, better time in the movement of shipments, and loss by denial of the routing privilege, Mr. Stubs frankly adverted to each of these points in general terms.

"So far as routing shipments is concerned, he said, "the whole matter is now in the courts and our company as well as the growers may as well let it alone. We think we are right in our contentions and we know that the ethics of the situation is with us. No more immoral and demoralizing state of things could be imagined than was brought about by the routing system. Doubtless the transportation companies were not guiltless in the matter, but they did not stand alone by a long way. Some shippers got so much rebate, other shippers got a different rebate, and others again got none at all.

Each says the responsibility rests with the other two. While they theorise on whose duty it is to stamp out this vice, the conditions grow worse daily. Eight different houses of ill fame in the Sixth Ward have to my knowledge been reported to the authorities, yet not one of them has been closed by the police; not a single arrest has been made. The excuse given is that it is impossible to secure evidence that will lead to a conviction."

Davenport then told how the citizens by employing watchmen armed with cameras had forced the abandonment in three days of a place on Cast Adams street "where the red light burned nightly and the crimson curtains fluttered by day."

"The others are still open," said Davenport, "and emboldened by the non-interference attitude of the police, procuresses from these dens of iniquity walk the streets by day in the garb of respectability and entice young girls to their bawdy houses to take music lessons or receive instruction in dress making or elocution."

The Councilman then related how the sixteen-year-old daughter of one of the men of affairs in his ward had been importuned to visit one of the bagnios. He said the citizens formed a vigilance committee and gave the painted strumpet twenty-four hours to leave and that she heeded the warning.

Davenport then told how a commission had been able to greatly improve

By unanimous vote the Council decided yesterday to purchase three No. 2 Nott fire engines for use in the department, subject to the conditions named in the bid of that company which was opened two weeks ago. The company agrees to turnish the three engines for $14,250 hand to put up $3000 bond that they will perform more fire duty in every way than any engine in the department of the same size. After the refusal of the American Fire Engine Company to meet the Nott company in competitive test the Councilimen came to the conclusion that the Nott engines must be superior to the old Metropolitan machines.

An ordinance passed the Council yesterday making the time limit for hitching horses or standing bicycles and automobiles forty-five minutes, instead of twenty minutes, as at present.

The section is $500 feet long, and will be built with money that came into the treasury as interest and sinking fund on the unsold storm-drain bonds. The drain will be laid before the paving of the street is done, so as to avoid tearing up the surface. The bids were as follows: B. Derania, $570.50; J. A. Hill, $758.20; C. Mrs. Mary W. Hotchkiss owned the lot upon which the Casino Theater was built and when J. E. The price to be paid was 20 cents per cubic foot, and as there were $56 cubic feet the total amount aggregates the sum claimed. A Whittler boy named John Geordan has been causing the officials at the reform school to lead the strenutious life, and an insanity complaint had to be sworn out against him. Yesterday he was brought before Judge Wilbur, and was as mild and smooth spoken as could be desired.

Supt. Sherman Smith. Major R. O'Brien, and the house doctor, all testified that Geordan was subject to pileptic fits. He used to have a fit about once in three weeks, and in order to have him cured he was sent to the County Hospital to be operated upon. As a boy, Geordan had fallen and injured his head, and after the doctors had removed a button from the frontal part of the skull, it was thought that he would be all right. And he was for a while. Then he began having more fits, and oftener than before. On an average he would have then once every three days and when they came there was a series, one following the other. After the paroxysm, Geordan would go crasy and think that he was face to face with enemies seeking his life. A Dog's Fidelity.

Lost week a gamekeeper named Henry Osmond, in the employ of Lord Falmouth, was fatally shot in a posching affray at the Tregothnan woods. The evidence—shows, that Osmond must have died between 6:30 and 7 o'clock on Tuesday evening, January 2f. His body was not discovered until 8 o'clock on the following Wednesday afternoon. All these hours, during which it rained pittlessly, a retriever puppy remained immovable by the side of her dead master, and in her fierce affection would not allow the search party to touch the body. At last it was secured and fastened to a tree, but the faithful animal gnawed through the rope and returned to its guardianship of the Cead.—[London Spectator.

"Here's the man with the bottle of hoose that Smith made the roar about," said Lennon, as he stood a full bottle of "Old Taylor" on the desk. "I caught him with it in his possession, but found that he had a half interest in it, so only charged him with a drunk."

Baralla got the same sentence as Smith, and when last seen Lennon had the bottle of whisky.

Peen Used Knife.

E. Gonzales, a vicious-looking peon, was given a straight sentence of sixty days on the chain gang for cutting a young Italian on the temple with a pocketknife.

Staurday night the two men met at the door of a saloon, at Ord and Buena Vista streets, and without provocation Gonzales struck the boy a blew with his knife. He pretended entire ignorrance of the whole circumstances, and as he was very drunk when arrested that is likely the truth. He claims to be a workman at one of the grading camps on the outskirts of the city.

Mr. Storck's rich, virile tone was never heard to better advantage than in the Raff sonata, Ritchie playing with comprehensive grasp the excellent violin part.

The auditors of Messra Storck and Ritchie were enthusiastic, and the compact auditorium of the clubhouse was of just the right proportions to sufficiently conserve and resonate the tone, without destroying its beauty by reschoing or too wide distribution.

The Airse sonatas were from Edward Schuett's opus 28; Raff's opus 78, and Beethoven's opus 24.

DEAD IN HER BATH.

Startling Discovery Made in Bathro of Rooming-house on West Eighth Street.

Miss Lamansa Christie, a trained nurse by profession, was found dead in a bathtub in the Hogan rooming-house, No. 515 West Eighth street, be-tween 5 and 6 o'clock last night. Miss Hogan, who worked under the direction of different physicians, had returned in the forenoon from a case upon which she had been engaged and had spent the remainder of the day in her room with Miss Cartnell, her room-upon which she had been engaged and had spent the remainder of the day in her room with Miss Cartnell, her roommate, who is also a trained nurse.

Between 3 and 4 o'clock in the evening a package was taken to the house for her and Mr. Hogan took it to the room. Miss Christie opened the door, and received the package from his hand, there being nothing unusual in her demeanor.

Some time after 5 o'clock Miss Cartnell came downstairs saying that soon after Mr. Hogan had gone to the bathroom and had not reappeared. Miss Cartnell expressed anxiety because she could get no reply at the bathroom door. Mr. Hogan called a man named Smith, who is employed about the house, and the two went together to the bathroom and by their combined efforts broke the door open. They found Miss Hogan dead in the tub, her head resting easily against the tub above the water, and everything indicating that the woman had expired from heart disease while in the act of taking her bath. Mr. Hogan, Miss Cartnell and all those who knew her about the house express the belief that she died of heart disease. Dr. Underwood and another physician, whose name is not known to Mr. Hogan, were at once summoned, and they coincided in the opinion that heart disease was the cause of Miss Christie's death.

The body was removed to the morgue of Pierce Brothers and an inquest will be held by the Coroner some time today, though the hour had not been set last night. In the meantime the effects of the deceased will be searched for anything that might throw light upon the case.

Miss Christie was a native of Kentucky, about 24 years of age, and had been in this city about two years. Further than that nothing seems to be known about her.

A Sad Oversight.
"There can be no doubt," said the coughtful theorist, "that the men who unded this government were guilty a sad oversight."
"What?" asked the aggressive patriot.
"Titles," replied the thoughtful theor-

"I never would have taken you for ittle worshiper," he said.
"No more am I," was the reply. "I m merely a student of international inancial and commercial conditions."
"What have titles to do with finance and commerce?"

"They decide the balance of trade."
"Nonsense!"

"They decide the balance of trade."
"Nonsense!"
"Oh, yes, they do. I wouldn't give a cent for a title except as commercial possibility, but I can see that a title factory ought to have been established as an auxiliary to the mint,"
"We're democratic," urged the aggressive patriot.
"But we also pretend to be business from the ground up," insisted the thoughtful theorist. "We alm to produce everything that has a financial possibility except titles and our foolish neglect of that throws the balance of trade against us."
"But it is frequently in our favor." "Not when you include the trade in heiresses," asserted the thoughtful theorist. "T've studied this subject of international trade and I tell you we figure shortsightedly, for we overlook one of the mast important items. Titles are a medium of exchunge, like brass buttons in a trade with the Indians—a sort of a flat currency for which the unsophisticated will trade real money. They ought to be incorporated in our financial system."—[Brooklyn Eagle.

It was also explained that under this new constitution, any union in trouble must bring its grievance before its own council, which would investigate and endeavor to effect a settlement. In case of failure, the grievance would then be referred to the central body. BIDDLE DISGRUNTLED.

BIDDLE DISGRUNTLED.

This arrangement doesn't look good to Biddle and Marrison, as all they can see in it is "Pinhead" McCarthy. McCarthy has already expressed a desire to remain in Los Angeles. In such an event he would be the great chief of the central body. Just who the other twenty would be is of interest. Biddle and Morrison don't think they have a ghost of a show. Consequently they feel a little sore against the northern boss.

have a ghost of a show. Consequently they feel a little sore against the northern boss.

The true-situation among the several local unions was also a subject of heated and anxious discussion on the floor of the "convention" and "before the bar," after adjournment. Cause for alarm was found in the number of lapses of dues and withdrawals reported. McCarthy wanted to know the cause. He got an individual opinion in reply. It was "San Francisco methods won't go here. We all threw up our hats when the Examiner came to town, but every man here knows that the Examiner has brought disagter upon us. It has done more harm to unionism here than all other influences. The people here won't stand for it. When it comes to a question of bread and butter for wife and babes the union will have to take second place."

So it has come to pass that while the unions are making desperate bluffs, defeat is in evidence at every point. "Pinhead" is doing his best toward infusing life and courage, but facts are more eloquent and presuasive than is the McCarthy tongue, and the unions see little to encourage them. Every sirks means disorganization. The barbers' union is disrupted, the carpenters are preparing for war, the cooks and waiters are worried over the success of the Rival restaurant in resisting the present boycott, the foundrymen's organization has long been a solar plexus blow to that union. In all the unions' assessments are resisted.

TRAVELING IN ENGLAND. A New Type of Care Which is Taking the Place of the Old

the Place of the Old Styles.

[Harper's Weekly:] Although there is very little that English and American rallroads can learn from one another, yet American example has had, and is still having, an undoubted influence on the arrangements of English cars. The old style of English cars. The means split up into ten or twelves first, second and third-class compartments, or, to give them their common English name, carriages. Each carriage was a self-contained whole, could only be entered from the platform, and had no communication with the carriage in front or behind.

The new type of, car which assuredly will in time supersede the old, is an adaptation of the American corridor car. The carriages remain as they were except that a foot or so has been lopped off each of them and given up to a passageway that runs the length of the car and outside the compartments. A certain amount of movement is thus made possible. A man may leave fils compartment and have as it may sound to Americans, really marks a revolution in the conditions of English traveling.

Also, and again for the first time, the corridor cars allow of tollet accommodation, a feature in which English trains are still scandalously deficient. The compartment in which we found ourselves chanced to be one of the old type. No egress was possible until the train drew up at its destination. Nevertheless, it was perfectly comfortable, well cushioned, clean, and with plenty of room for one's lighter baggage and belongings. A shilling to the guard, had we cared to make the investment, would have saved us from all chance of invasion. He would have locked the door and bundled would-be intruders elsewhere. As it happened, we had the carriage to ourselves all the way from London to Birmingham by sheer good fortune. When the train reached Birmingham it was the work of less than three minutes to have a porter pick out our baggage and call up a hansom.

President's Young Friend.

It is a matter of common remark about the White House just now that no man in the country is closer to the President in the way of personal friendship than James R. Garfield, son of President Garfield, and head of the bureau of corporations in the Department of Commerce and Labor.

The President is doing a good deal of waiking now, particularly in the fine afternoon weather which has marked some of the days of early spring. In many of his jaunts, Mr. Garfield is his companion. Like the President, he is athletic, and a good waiker.

Scarcely a day goes by but Mr. Garfield is a caller at the White House, frequently at the President's request. It is understood the President talks freely to the young man on all matters of public policy. Another man for whom the President entertains a great liking is Gifford Pinchot, of the bureau of forestry. Mr. Pinchot and Mr. Garfield are also close friends.

While the President's nephew, Lieut. Fortesque, was here, he frequently accompanied the President in long walks into the country. Mr. Fortesque, however, has left for the scene of military operations in the Far East.—[Washington Times.]

Russians, Great and Little.

There are three grand divisions of the nationality—The Great Russians, the Little Russians and the White Russians. The Great Russians center at Moscow, the Little Russians at Rief. but their civilization is less advanced than that of the other two. The Great Russians, many times the most numerous, are the vigorous and pushing element of the Russian nation. Though the least Slavic, it has been the great colonizer of the Slavic race. Its whole history has been of one long struggle against Asia.

The Great Russian's stature is oftener high than low; his skin is white, his eyes often blue, his hair mostly blond. The Little Russian is handsomer, tailer, livelier, more alert in mind, but more changeable, meditative, indolent. He has more independence, more individuality and is more dreamy and poetical. The White Russian is so called because he is fond of wearing white clothes, yet he is not as clean as the other two divisions of his countrymen. In old times he was also called "white" because of nis freedom from taxation. He is fond of wearing his hair long, and he is subject to a disgusting scalp disease that keeps the lower part of the unkempt locks greatted with blood.—[Pittsburgh Gagette.

Jolly Whist Club.

The Jolly S:xteen were entertained by Mrs. F. C. McKinnie at her residence, No. 649 East Twenty-second street, last Friday evening. Miss Christine Wurtz won the lady's firs tprize and G. B. Shaffer the gentlemen's first. The guessing contest, names of prominent men, was won by the president, Mrs. F. A. Nordyke. The club meets April 8 at the residence of Mrs. L. W. Wright, No. 1621 Bush street. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. F. C. McKinnie, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Nordyke, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Shaffer, Mrs. Anna De Freese, Mrs. H. G. Wurtz, Miss Christine Wurtz, Miss L. Shirley, Mr. and Mrs. Eawyer, Mrs. W. A. Streeter, C. A. Carlson, Dr. J. T. Spencer, H. H. Almhurst and H. W. Sheldon.

This was the cry, accompanied by a jolt, a swaying motion, a smashing sound, and a sudden stop close to the sidewalk, that startled eighteen passengers on a First-street car, bound down the hill, at the corner of Olive, shortly after 10 o'clock yesterday morning. When those on the floor picked themselves up and those clinging to the seats gazed about, they found that the car had left the track after a mad race down the steep grade. after a mad race down the steep grade dashed across the street and had been dashed across the street and had been brought to a stop by the combined efforts of the soft mud of the roadway, a telegraph pole and a delivery wagon. The pole got such a jar that the cement about its base was shattered, the forward wheels and axle of the wagon were broken, the rider thrown from his seat, and the horses lifted from their feet and tumbled in an abject heap by the force of the impact.

The first thought of the passengers was one of thankfulness for their miraculous escape. This feeling of thankfulness to Providence was succeeded by one of indignation at the miraculous escape. This reeling of thankfulness to Providence was ancceeded by one of indignation at the conduct of the officers of the railway company because of the gross carelessness with which the cars on this particular line are run. The man at the handlebars yesterday was entirely inexperienced and was being "broken in" by Motorman G. F. Webber, an old employé. It appears that instead of retaining the services of experienced men on this line, admittedly one of the most dangerous in the city, the railroad management has been in the habit of putting on new crews quite frequently. This is given as the cause of the many mishaps that have occurred upon the route in the past.

Had the soil of the street not been softened by the recent rain, which acted as a drag to the wheels of the heavy car, there is no doubt that the accident yould have resulted in the maining or slaughter of most of the passengers.

Bedroom Sets

Reduced 40 and 33 Per Cent.

For this week we offer a uniform reduction of one-third, or 33‡ per cent., on all bedroom sets. Among our sets are a number that we recently purchased at a reduction of 25 per cent. to 40 per cent. from the regular prices. If you should select one of the sets that we bought at a discount of 40 per cent., and which is marked at 40 per cent. reduction from the regular retail price, and then get your extra discount of 33‡ per cent., you would have a total discount of 60 per cent. If you were to select one of the sets bought at a reduction of 25 per cent, the total discount would be 50 per cent or exactly half the regular retail price. There are comparatively few of these finer sets which were purchased at the reduced prices, but every other set in the store is reduced one-third. It makes no difference which set you select, you will save at least one-third, possibly one-half, and in a few instances 60 per cent. The reductions on the cheaper sets range as follows:

For this week we offer a uniform reduction of one-third, or 33; per cent., on all bedre

He created a mild sensation by declaring that he was in favor of the election of a colored bishop and won the vigorous applause of the several colored ministers in the meeting. He declared that the twenty colored conferences furnished abundant work for a colored bishop and that it was time for the Methodist church to remove the color line from the highest office in its gift.

Dr. O'Hanion gave it as his oninion that one of the new bishops will be elected from Southern California, and mentioned Dr. Bovard and Dr. Pitner as available timber for the place.

He announced himself as in favor of a return to the five-year itineracy, which statement brought Dr. J. T. Chaffey to his feet in opposition to both the time limit and to the probation clause.

Small retailers are buying more freely, but prices were a shade weaker. Small sizes were in good demand, and sold relatively higher than large sizes. Florida oranges were wanted, if fancy, but poor quality were scarcely salable at any price. No Porto Ricos were offered, and no more are expected. Grape fruit is firm, when fancy, but poor fruit goes slowly at reduced prices, Tangerines are slow at low prices.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Eggs have maintained the sharp advance scored on Saturday afternoon, at which time they were sold at from 1 to 2 cents above exchange quotations. This morning the prevailing rate was 19620 cents for candied, with receipts heavy enough during the afternoon to make the higher figure hard to secure. Case count are steady at 17618.

The market shows improvement in appearance. Berries are of better qual-

Got Start from Twain.

"A certain prominent New York physician owes his start to Mark Twain," said a New York magazine editor, "and I saw him get it. It was twenty years ago, and the then young physician had just hung out his shingle, Mr. Clemens knew him quite well, and so did I, and we both believed he had the real stuff in him, but the people hadn't learned of him yet, and his office was empty.

"One day Mark was in my place, talking, when a banker of social prominence came in. Incidentally, he mentioned the fact that his physician had died the night before of heart disease, and he needed his services that very minute. Mark at once suggested that he give our friend a trial.

Joseph D. Simms, who came here with his family from Pomona a month ago, died yesterday. He was 65 years old, and leaves a widow and two children. The remains were shipped to Pomona today for burial.

Much interest is being manifested in the basketball game next Saturday between Long Beach and Mariborough. Both teams have a clean score of victories, and are easily superior to the clubs they have yet to meet in the league schedule.

P. William F. Cowden of Tacoms Wash., superintendent of missions of the Northwest, will deliver an address tomorrow evening at the Christian Church.

On next Tuesday, March 29, the Masonic lodges of this city will attend the dedicatory exercises of the new Masonic Temple at Santa Ana.

The colored Baptists of Long Beach are having plans drawn for a new house of worship, to be erected at the corner of Tenth and Atlantic avenues.

On Thursday evening Companion Court, No. 803. Independent Order of Poresters, will entertain in honor of High Chief Ranger R. E. Wirsching.

A poil of the new Great Register now closed for the municipal election April 11, shows a registration of 1291, Over-200 on the last register failed to reregister, indicating a total poil of 1500 votes in Long Beach.

Bishop Johnson of the Episcopal diocese, yesterday evening confirmed a class of sixteen at St. Luke's Church.

BEACH FRONTAGE SELLS.

OCEAN PARK, March 31.—The most significant real estate deal of the season has been consummated. Something less than one hundred feet of ocean frontage has changed hands at $300 a front foot. This is a good price when it is considered that the property is not a corner lot and that the improvements are only nominal and consist of single-story frame structures.

Mr. List of Loe Angeles has purchased 60 feet from Dr. Howard and Mr. Sanborn, and Mrs. Martine has bought 20 feet from Mr. Cribb of Los Angeles. The property is all adjoining, and lies between Pier avenue and Kinney street on Ocean Front, extending from the Angier's fish market to Miss Sinuson's office. Frank Taylor has purchased 65 feet on Ocean Front at the morth corner of India for $6000. The improvements on this property consist of two cottages.

BOY DANGEROUSLY WOUNDED.

Andrew Nudson, a boy 14 years of age, was accidentally shot in the back on Saturday afternoon while hunting with two boys of a similar age in the wash near Asusa. The wound is a dangerous one, the bail, a 22-caliber, entering the bladder. The boy was removed to the Los Angeles Hospital this morning. The gun was accidentally discharged by Virgil Bonham while attempting to extract a cartridge which had become jammed.

The Olinda baseball team of Angheim met defeat from the Covina team on the home grounds yesterday afternoon, the score standing 5 to 4. The Olinda team is the finest aggregation of amateurs in Southern California and the Covina boys feel correspondingly jubilant.

be impossible to force the door. It was suggested that the front be drilled and blown open, but the possible wreck of the building caused the abandonment of this plan.

Friday and the greater part of Saturday was spent in tinkering with the combination by the experts. Just what the trouble was could not be determined. Finally !t was decided that the only way to get at the interior of the safe was to remove the doors, and the experts were taken away and safe builders sent in to cut out the doors. The men worked all day Sunday and Monday, and at noon yesterday the doors were removed and the misplaced spindle, the cause of all the trouble, found. It had alipped out of place, changing the combination.

The doors will be recast at the foundry of the safe company and a new combination and lock put on the vault.—[New York Sun. this morning. The gun was accidentally discharged by Virgil Bonham while attempting to extract a cartridge which had become Jammed.

An Interview With the Mark

His Views as to Banking

BY ALONZO H. STEWART. WASHINGTON, March 16.-The whole financial world has been aston-ished at the ability of Japan to supply her own finances for the carrying on of the present struggle. At the begin-ning of the strained relations between the two conflicting powers, bankers in both this country and Europe confi-dently expressed the thought that ow-ing to the difficulty if not impossibility ing to the difficulty if not impossibility of Japan's raising a large war loan, an extensive or protracted struggle between her and Russia was not at all probable. Japan had but recently passed through the throes of financial reconstruction and was hardly yet believed to be firmly established upon the gold basis; she was in a position where it would take but little to precipitate a financial panic; yet here we

Bedford avenue and Halsey street, Brooklyn, for the last few days in a state of uncertainty and anxiety, while illo,000 in cash, bonds and checks were tied up in one of the big vaults, on Friday moming last the big doors of the banking laws for the Philippine lislands, and he expressed the conviction that the United States commerce in the foreit would be augmented while the banking and commercial

Knowing that Baron Shibusawa was in reality the father of the banking system of Korea, I asked whether he thought the banking institutions of China would prefer to have special banking laws enacted for the Philippines rather than to have the United States national laws extended over States national laws extended over them.

He answered by saying that it was his opinion that all banking houses and commercial bodies as well as general merchants dealing with the Philippine Islands would much prefer to have the United States laws, as to both banking and currency, extended over those islands. We know that the United States banking laws are sound, while we cannot know, until after from the fluctuations of exchange and of the value of the circulating medium. It is to their benefit to continue that condition as long as possible. The Baron concluded this part of the conversation by saying that these were subjects which would perhaps be more properly discussed before the commission, which he understood was soon to visit Japan.

The formality which marked the beginning of our conversation had by this time somewhat worn away, and the ceremonial tea, with which all functions commence, having been drunk, cigarettes were lighted, and a pleasant little chat, on general subjects, followed. The theme which seemed to most interest our Japanese friends was the building up of closer trade relations between the United States and themselves and the relaxation of all forms of restriction which tend to hinder freer trade and intercourse. One of the gentlemen present, a Tokio merchant, who has also a large Japanese house in New York City, related a very unpleasant experience, while traveling on an American boat to San Francisco, via Honolulu. When that port was reached, in company with an Englishman, a German and a Hindoo, he started ashore to walk about the city, and of the four foreigners he was the only one stopped, and he was combelled to return to the ship and get the captain to vouch for him before he was allowed to proceed ashore. "Why did they do that?" he asked. "Was it because I am a Japanese?" It is needless to say that this gentleman and his friends in their travels between the United States and Japan, a couple of times each year, patronize the Canadian Pacific lines so as to avoid such inconvenience and humiliation in attempting to land from American vessels at American ports.

To establish herself upon a gold basis in the Orient, surrounded as she was on all sides by the users and devotees of silver, was no easy task, and its accomplishment was only the result of several unsuccessful sitempts. It was owing to the genius of her business men raher than her political statesmen that she did become a successful gold user. Forement among the former, and to whom Japan unquestionably owes the gold standard, is Baron Elichi Shibusawa, whom the Americans in that country call the Mark Hanan of Japan. In business allity, in genius of finance, in love for commerce and trade, and adaptability for the handling of men, he is closely akin to our late Ohlo Senator, while in personal appearance he resembles him probably as much as an Oriental can resemble an Anglo-Saxon. Short, stout, with an expression, except that of the eyes, strikingly similar, with a determined mouth, and even in his style of dress he recalls Mr. Hanna.

I first saw Baron Shibusawa at a banquet given at the Imperial Hotel, Tokyo, with 100 men present attired in the full dress of official Japan, the frock coat, with black tie and trouser, Although Baron Shibusawa at a banquet given at the imperial Hotel, Tokyo, with 100 men present attired in the full dress of official Japan, the frock coat, with black tie and trousers, Although Baron Shibusawa at a banquet given at the magnetic properties of the patriotic spirit which animated all classes in the empire and gave

Dog Knows Game Laws.

Scip, the famous dog detective and assistant game warden, has finished his third season of usefulness in behalf of the commonwealth of Maine, and is having lots of fun chasing rabbits on the Sunkhase meadows.

Scip is an ordinary little dog, with no pedigree to brag of, being something of a cross between a fox terrier and some common kind of a dog. In fact, Scip's earlier years are wrapped in mystery, but that doesn't seem to weigh upon his spirits at all. He belongs very much to one of the vigilant State game wardens, who is stationed at Bangor during the hunting season to see that all game which passes through is according to the rules and regulations set forth by the fish and game laws of the State.—[Boston Globe.

The Herald has no excuse to offer for the republication of Gen. Otis's article. The sympathies of the American people are unmistakably and for good reason with the Japanese in this struggle, yet the fact that Russia is in the wrong now, should not blind us to the great service she rendered us in our hour of need. The Tar and Feather Habit.

The Tar and Feather Habit.

We have looked through the Constitution and bylaws of this country without discovering any authority for the tarring and feathering of its citizens. Possibly there is no such authority. Yet we cannot repress a pang of sympathy for the people of a village in this State, who, in ignorance of legal procedure, fell back upon devisements of their own, and regretfully but firmly painted with tar, and then sprinkled with feathers, the body of a certain man, and gave him an hour to betake himself to some other town. For it appears that the person was fashioned in the likeness of certain degenerate youth of Brooklyn, and that he felt called upon to address unescorted women in terms the reverse of compilment. The women tired of this and told the men folks, and the men folks snaked the offender into publicity with a lasso, bound him to a tree, coated him with tar and feathers and warned him to get away quick. He got away. There is hardly a doubt that the person's reformation will be more complete than if he had been sent to jail to idle for a week or two, secure from the observation and reproach of his neighbors. There is hardly a doubt that & have in all our cities candidates for a similar distinction, who would amend their conduct forthwith, if their enthusiastic fellow-citizens would only take them to a public square, clothe them as this person was clothed, and add to this service a ride on a rail to the outskirts of the town. There may be nothing in the Constitution to justify it, but neither does the Constitution approve disrespect to American women.—[Brooklyn Eagle. rove disrespect to American women -[Brooklyn Eagle.
